At the Book Shop

Today Ken and I went to the book shop after lunch. A woman behind us was reading a book while her handbag was left open.

I saw a man. I felt that he was suspicious because he was staring at the woman's handbag.

Later, I noticed the man stealing the woman's phone. Ken and I were shocked. That man was a thief! We told the shopkeeper immediately. The shopkeeper called 999. The police came and caught the man.
