A Diary Entry

Dear Diary,

This morning Jessie and I went to the Science Museum by MTR. We felt happy and excited. We saw a man and a girl. The man was taking a nap and the girl was playing the video games. We were chatting.

Then, the man woke up. He opened the backpack and talked on the phone.

After that, we saw the girl trying to steal the man's wallet. We felt surprised. Jessie said, "Let's call the policeman and tell the man, okay?"

So, I told the man, "That girl wants to steal your wallet!"

Then, the man shouted "Thief! Thief!" The girl wanted to run away but she was caught by Jessie.

Ten minutes later, some policemen came. They caught the girl to the police station. Then, the man thanked us.

After that, we knew we needed to keep an eye on our property.
