An Unlucky Day

Last Sunday was my most unlucky day. When I was walking on the street, I carelessly dropped my mobile phone on the ground and the screen was broken. I was scared because my mum and dad might be angry about my broken phone.

Then I went home and watched my favourite cartoon. However, the television was out of order. I felt very disappointed.

I felt bored so I went to the library to borrow some books. When I was at the circulation counter, I could not find my library card. I searched in my bag but I still could not find it. I felt embarrassed and I said sorry to the librarian.

In the end, I ran to my home to take the library card. I thought I should be more careful with my mobile phone and library card in future.
